1 Roman Baths & Pump Room

- Roman Baths: Around Britain's only hot spring, the Romans built a magnificent temple and bathing complex that still flows with natural hot water. See the water's source and walk where Romans walked on the ancient stone pavements.
- Pump Room: Regarded as the social heart of Bath for more than two centuries, the Pump Room is the place to which hot Spa water is drawn for drinking. Today the Pump Room contains a restaurant that is open daily for lunch and light refreshments.

3 Bath Abbey

An Anglican Parish Church in the heart of Bath serving the community, congregation and welcoming visitors from all over the world. The Abbey began in 1499 and stands on the foundations of two previous churches. The West Front is unique as it depicts the dream that inspired the Abbey's founder, Bishop Oliver King, to pull down the ruined Norman cathedral and raise the present building on its foundations.

4 Royal Crescent, Circus & Pulteney Bridge

- Royal Crescent: The Royal Crescent is one of the world's best known landmarks. Built between 1767 and 1775 and designed by John Wood the younger, the crescent contains some 30 houses, one of which is now the Royal Crescent Hotel, another is Number 1 and open to the public.

- The Circus : The Circus was the masterpiece of John Wood the Elder. The striking architecture has spawned numerous theories to explain its stark originality. Viewed from the air it forms the shape of a key, perhaps a Masonic symbol?

- Pulteney Bridge: Pulteney Bridge, together with the Ponte Vecchio in Florence, is one of the world's most beautiful bridges. Built for William Pulteney by Robert Adams, the bridge was an attempt to connect central Bath to land on the other bank of the River Avon and make Pulteney's fortune. In spite of its practical origins it is surely the most romantic bridge in the world, best viewed from Parade Gardens park by the crescent weir.
